OK <
I'm happy to do that but you have to give me some guidance. What does he like to do and how < ;does he like to operate
Some guys are lone rangers and are wonderful people but poor partners and some people really < enjoy being partners and
.like the working and thinking together <
I have no idea how much money he has or his appetite to build a firm or just do deals. Both ok but < .it's a style question
.He also has enough prestige that he may prefer to join Carlyle or Blackstone and work that way <
.Give it some thought and let's try to make the match work, if it can <
<
